

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

March 31

1999

Safety Training Center schedules classes

The NASA Safety Training Center has two classes scheduled April 12-16 in Bldg. 4200, room G-21. Electrical Safety Standards will be held from 8 a.m.-noon; Machinery and Machine Guarding 1-4 p.m. Classes are open to both civil service and on-site contractors. To register, visit the Safety home page. Deadline for registering is Thursday.

Makeup security update briefing
Wednesday, 9-10
a.m., Morris Auditorium

Emergency Warning System audio test set for 3 p.m. Thursday Centerwide

AdminSTAR fixes scheduling glitch

Effective Wednesday, the AdminSTAR application for both Windows and Macintosh will be patched to correct a problem with scheduling classes on Feb. 29, 2000. For Windows users, this upgrade is automatic; the user does not need to do anything for this patch to take effect. Macintosh users will need to rerun the AdminSTAR installer to get the software patch. If you have questions, call 544-HELP, Option 0.

Protective Services Office issues foreign travel alert

The ongoing crisis in Yugoslavia necessitates the need for additional caution when traveling overseas. Employees and on-site contractors are encouraged to contact the Protective Services Office at 4-4538, prior to any overseas travel.